SUPPORTS TO THE ON-RESERVE SCHOOL, CHIEF JACOB BEARSPAW MEMORIAL SCHOOL

Girl's Youth Group

A teen psychoeducational group for students in Grades 7-12 (age has extended beyond 18 if they are enrolled in grade 12). The group is facilitated through an integrative care approach, and is participant led as much as possible (varies depending on the engagement of the students). Subject matter generally includes – healthy relationships, distress tolerance/emotional regulation skills, psychoeducation re: holistic health. Interactive/varied styles of learning are incorporated as possible, and both informal and formal learning approaches are utilized.

Boy's Youth Group

This is a youth group for students at the school from ages 13 to 18 from Grades 7 through to Grade 12. The purpose of the group is to provide an opportunity for the boys to discuss concerns around growing up in Eden Valley, to develop positive coping, and to learn about resources on and off reserve that support their development and future plans. The group is organized around presentations from the two male facilitators and visitors. Arts and crafts are used as well group discussion. The boys are encouraged to share aspects of their culture and the group begins with a ceremony.

Individual Counselling for Youth

Youth throughout the school, ages 13 to 18, are referred to IMH counsellors to discuss personal challenges and situations. These sessions are confidential and available throughout the school year.

Supports to younger children in the school

Service to the younger students from Kindergarten through to Grades 4 to 6 is provided through the medium of play informed therapy and arts and crafts. These referrals are made by the classroom teachers and the school's Special Education teacher.

PSYCHOSOCIAL AND PSYCHOLOGICAL SUPPORT TO ADULT MEMBERS OF THE EDEN VALLEY COMMUNITY

Indigenous mental health staff provide psycho-social and psychological support to youth and adult members of the community. This involves resourcing, such as referral to off-reserve addiction services, referral to specialized treatment such as psychiatric consultation, consultation around diagnosis and planning mental health treatment as well as direct counselling, both individual and family. Team members provide home visits on the reserve and meet with people at the wellness centre and other community hubs.

Community engagement to foster reconciliation and repairing of trust with western medical system.

Clinic mental health nurse provides some case management on an as-needed basis (particularly when barriers to engagement with other AHS services are extensive), with the eventual goal of Wellness Centre capacity building and eventual transfer to Wellness Centre with stabilization, particularly when there are struggles with engagement with treatment and appointments. Nursing liaison and support between urban Alberta Health Services programs (particularly where there are significant barriers to engagement, demonstrated difficulties with follow-through). This can include nursing CTO support and assistance (must be enrolled in other AHS clinic on primary basis. Nursing/Case management services are on a support basis only and cannot continue if discharged from primary clinic).

Creating Connections Program

Funded by Health Canada, the objective of the Creating Connections project is to increase youth awareness about substance use and misuse, prevent harm associated with substance use, and promote healthy relationships and coping among participating youth that will ultimately enhance wellness.

CWF Rebuilding Lives Program

The Land-Based Learning Program focuses on supporting children and youth who have witnessed abuse. The program is designed to offer children and youth traditional, Indigenous-led means of healing. Children and youth will be engaged with their Elders and will learn about their historically rich culture, and will be given opportunities to put traditional practices into place, which will promote healing.

Through the work of the Youth Outreach Worker and local Band leaders and Elders, a curriculum has been designed and developed to promote healing for local children and youth who have witnessed violence in their lives. The Youth Outreach Worker accessed the deep wealth of knowledge of Band leaders and local Elders and together they designed an Indigenized approach to healing by recognizing the deep, physical, mental, and spiritual connection to the land that is a part of the Stoney-Nakoda culture. They used their traditional knowledge to support the well-being of local youth.

By engaging children and youth who have witnessed violence in an outdoor environment, we are providing opportunities for youth to learn about and participate in their traditional cultural activities. By offering opportunities to children and youth to learn about traditional ceremonies, traditional medicines, the history of the land, how to be stewards of the land, and how to speak their traditional language we are offering opportunities for reconciliation. These activities lead to an increased sense of self, and pride in culture. Ultimately, the Indigenous-led, Land-Based Learning Program can re-engage Indigenous children and youth in their own wellness, build community connectedness, and revitalize Indigenous practices, which leads to healing.

Corporate name of organization/ service provider	FOOTHILLS COMMUNITY COUNSELLING
Mission statement of organization	Being responsive to community need is important to us, which we meet with high-quality, accessible counselling services delivered at an affordable rate. Asking for help or seeking someone to talk to can be difficult, but finding that help shouldn't be. Foothills Community Counselling is our rural solution to ensuring our residents have the support they need to thrive.
Main office phone number	403-603-3549 - GENERAL MESSAGES. Clients can register for counselling or leave a message for their counsellor.
Point-of-contact person and position (For resource sharing and keeper of updated organizational information)	Sandra McQueen - Lead Counsellor and supervisor of practicum students. Main contact for organization information and updated waitlist times. smcqueen@highriver.ca Shelley Koots - Manager of Foothills Community Support Services, Foothills Community Counselling, and the Greater Foothills Family Center skoot@highriver.ca • 403-603-3425 One full-time and 4-5 part-time counsellors. Also, 2-3 practicum students/year completing Masters programs.
Criteria for accessing various programs/services	A client calls to register for a counselling session. A counsellor sets up an intake appointment where it is determined if our counsellors and services are a good fit. If not, recommendations for alternative services are discussed. At this time we DO NOT provide psychological testing and or assessments and cannot diagnose any mental health issues. We provide short- to long-term therapy for clients, depending on their needs. We do not offer emergency or crisis counselling. If the client is in high need and in crisis our services would not be a good fit for them.
Serving age range	We provide counselling to children ages 6+, teens, adults, seniors, families, couples or relationships.
Times available?	Counsellors work Monday-Friday 9 am-4 pm, with some evenings and Saturdays, depending on each counsellor's schedule.
Are there wait times?	Wait lists vary, depending on counsellor availability and client needs. Limited space for children 6-13 years, so wait time for these sessions could be longer. Wait times shift throughout the year, but we try to see clients as soon as possible. We touch base with each client to inform them of the waitlist and to gather some intake information before they meet with a counsellor.
Referral procedure	We are happy to accept referrals, however, the client must call to register. We do not make first-contact calls to clients.
Any costs?	Fees are based on a sliding scale and will be determined on an individual basis, based on household income, with a minimum session fee of $25.
Organizations, services you want to collaborate with specifically, or sector of focused collaborations?	For agencies inquiring they can email F3@highriver.ca or Sandra McQueen directly at smcqueen@highriver.ca. Open to collaboration with all services where applicable.
